Foreword

This glossary is a compilation of terms (including abbreviations) likely to be found in the recent literature of Australian vocational education and training (VET) research and policy. It includes some commonly found international terms, although to include all terms used internationally in this area would be outside the scope of this publication. Where a term has a broader general meaning, the definition given refers to its use in the VET context.

The bibliography at the end of the glossary lists the publications and web sites which were used as sources of information. Definitions wholly or substantially written by other organisations are acknowledged in the text. The National Centre for Vocational Education Research (NCVER) would particularly like to thank the following people for their valuable assistance in the compilation of this glossary: Brian Knight, Peter Thomson, John Foyster, Ron Mazzachi, Helen Fraser and the staff of the Education and Training Information Service, NSW Department of Education and Training.
